

Messy Church Co-ordinator for N. Ireland

As part of my role as Children's worker for Connor diocese, I have taken on the exciting role of Messy Church co-ordinator for N. Ireland. This undertaking has the full support of Bishop Alan and the Diocesan Development team headed up by Development Officer Trevor Douglas. The role includes keeping Messy Church leaders in touch with all the Messy happening across the UK and further afield. This is done mostly by email, but also by occasionally meeting face to face! Messy Meet Ups allow leaders a change to get together to encourage and support each other and to share ideas. Our latest get together was a couple of months ago and to find out about all our discussions, ideas and suggestions, click on the article below. We hope to have another get together in November. Full details will be posted on the website, nearer the time.
